This season, open your heart to the needs of Virginia's at-risk youth.

Dear CHS Supporter,

Last month we contacted you about the CHS Family Tree, a venerated wall decoration in the lobby of our Richmond office. We are now asking you again to consider becoming a part of it!

The CHS Family Tree is a proud symbol of our enduring support and lasting impact on generations of families in Virginia. The limbs of the tree are adorned with engraved brass leaves that individually recognize our generous donors—and their families and loved ones. For over twenty years The Family Tree has grown to provide the children and youth of CHS tens of thousands of dollars in generous support. Visit

Molly and Allison's journey to adoption began with their mother's drug abuse. She sometimes left the sisters in the care of strangers, at one point not checking on them for 45 days.

Your legacy, preserved on the Family Tree, will help children like Molly and Allison realize their hopes and dreams. Just click here to get started! Or email, call or visit chsva.org to find out how your family name can be proudly displayed, and what level you might consider.

Eventually she became incarcerated. After two years and five different foster homes, CHS introduced Molly and Allison to James and Margaret. We guided them through home study approval and trauma-informed training. James and Margaret have patiently supported the girls with love and attention, mindfully providing them the stable environment they need. Molly and Allison are now able to just "be kids."
